STU'S SCRIPT

As you can see Pres. Stu is leaving no stone unturned in his search for a potential Vocational visit for the club.

President Stu is in Bangkok and obviously still able to leap tall buildings but he is getting older so we hope he will be able to clean any small stains on his Superman suit.

View from 15 storeys as he is about to take off.

Super Stu presumably with Lois Lane?

Guest speaker Dr Cally Berryman on "Inside the secret world of female gambling".

The biggest gambling problem for women is pokie machines, located in public with lights and appealing characters. Gives the illusion of being social and safe areas.

Because of accessibility pokies have become an increasing problem and growing.

With increased accessibility on internet gambling, sports betting younger people are getting introduced earlier and in different ways but women prefer the pokies.

With every win the dopamine hit spurs the gambler on for the next high. The pokies programmers create programs to pull the gambler into the addiction.

There is help out there for gamblers but unspecific for the women gamblers. Motivation can be different than men but centre around self-confidence, emotional trauma, family and social breakups.

Gamblers Help provide a variety of services to assist.

Self-exclusion is another strategy that can help.
